There's a certain feeling you get when you step onto a property like this - space to breathe, room to grow, and a sense that life might just slow down a little. Set on a massive 1,597m² block just beyond the town circle, this four-bedroom home doesn't scream for attention - it just quietly offers everything a family needs.

The bedrooms are generous, all with built-ins, because life's easier when there's a place for everything. The main bedroom has an ensuite tucked away, offering a bit of sanctuary at the end of a long day. And the main bathroom? It's not fancy, but it's practical, and it works - especially on school mornings.

The kitchen isn't trying to win awards, but it's big, open, and
